The County had voted to participate and if the County wanted to opt out they could at this time. Some 34,000 local governments are participating in the class action lawsuit.

EMERGENCY MANAGER SERVICE MERGER PROPOSED

As reported last month, the longtime EMA Director for Christian County Mike Crews resigned his position. He had agreed to help put together some suggestions for the Board in replacing his position. Greg Ninmo, the current 911 and EMA Director for Montgomery County seemed like a good fit to add to Christian County. Crews and Ninmo worked closely together during the tornado aftermath last December. A combined budget and duties were explained as the discussion to combine the two counties with one EMA Director. Christian County would become the main employer and the position would be considered full time. The sharing between counties would also allow the previous grants to be put toward the combined budget. Grants have been a large factor in continuing the local EMA. Most items in the budgets, including the salary, can be reimbursed up to 50%. Greg Ninmo comes highly recommended by Crews. A motion was made by Brian Wilbur and seconded by Molly Alaria to accept the proposed merger between Christian and Montgomery counties. The motion carried with one opposed. A motion was made by Brian Wilbur and seconded by Molly Alaria to approve the Intergovernmental Agreement between Christian and Montgomery Counties to Consolidate Emergency Management Agency Services.
